Join us when UFL Reads! discusses

Their Eyes Were Watching God by Zora Neale Hurston

In February we rediscover a classic novel of Harlem Renaissance literature, which focused on African American heritage and pride. In Zora Neale Hurston's Their Eyes Were Watching God, Janie Crawford returns to her hometown in Florida, under much scrutiny from former friends and acquaintances who wonder what she's been up to. With her friend Pheoby as a sounding board, Janie recounts her life as an African American woman in the 1930s. Janie's survived three husbands and stressful times. Has she finally found peace and her own identity?
